

Recognition Forms Due Wednesday

DEADLINE FOR students, faculty and staff to make nominations for the new all-UMD awards has been set as Wednesday. Nomination forms appear in this issue of the "STATESMAN".

Student Commission corresponding secretary, Virginia Lampson, urged that careful consideration be taken in filling out the forms, and stressed the fact that students may nominate faculty and staff members.

Forms for student nominations must be returned to Armillas Tammimen in Main 211 Wednesday and staff-faculty nominations to Miss Lampson by the same day. Her P. O. box is 588.

ALL AWARDS will be presented at an awards banquet, tentatively slated for May 23. Club recognitions will also be presented. Nominations for club recognition may be made only by faculty members and members of the Student Commission, and must be submitted to Ed Alspach, P. O. 825, by May 11.

Miss Lampson added that extra sheets should be attached to the printed nomination form if the space provided is not adequate.

LSA To Dedicate Center; Plans Banquet, Help Week

The Lutheran Student Association will hold three of its most important events of the year, during the next week.

HELP WEEK OPENS

Starting today and continuing through May 12, is the third annual Help Week, during which students donate their spare time to do any jobs ranging from the washing of walls, cars, windows, and floors, to yard work of various types. They are paid according to its value to the employer, and all the profits are turned in to LSAction, LSA's expression of stewardship.

Ray Spangle, LSAction chairman, has been responsible for the planning of this project. For information or requests for work call RA 4-6030.

DEDICATE CENTER SUNDAY

Another significant step will be taken Sunday, May 6, when the Lutheran Student Foundation of Minnesota dedicates the new Lutheran Student Center here at UMD. The house will be open to visitors from 2:30 to 4:30 p. m. and 5:30 to 9:30 p. m.

The dedication will be held at 4:30 p. m., with Dr. Raymond Darland, UMD provost, and Rev. William Larsen, the executive director and pastor of the Lutheran Student Foundation of Minnesota, as speakers.

Foundation Will Travel And Work

Members of the UMD Wesley Foundation will join with Methodist students from the state at a student rally in the Minneapolis Wesley Center tomorrow. Twenty seven from UMD will attend this rally and the youth night program at the Minneapolis Auditorium Saturday night.

Dr. Dudley Ward, executive secretary of the board of economic and social relations of the Methodist church, will be the featured speaker at the afternoon rally.

A "WORK WEEK" from May 11 to 18 as a means of raising money for the program of the foundation is also planned. Jim Gillespie and Jeanette Darland are co-chairmen.

IS THAT A BRIBE Dick Gottschald extends to convention delegate Marcie Wheat in this candid shot? The mixed emotions of enthusiastic applause and realistic disappointments shared the scene of political maneuvers at the first nominating convention.

Voters Face Issues In Coming Elections

VIGOROUS CAMPAIGN TACTICS at the first nominating convention last Thursday brought the names of Paul Butler and Pete Thorsteinson to the top of the ballot. They will vie in the presidential race for student commission elections next Friday.

IN ADDITION to nominating a complete slate for commission offices, the body authorized a special committee to place four possible nicknames on the ballot. From this group came suggestions to choose between the FALCONS, NORSEMEN and VOYAGEURS. (Sketches and further word on page three.)

If none of these suggestions are agreeable, students may vote to retain the Bulldogs until a more satisfactory name can be adopted.

UNSUCCESSFUL IN his bid to be nominated for the presidency, John Hill was placed as a candidate for the vice-president with Walter Musolf. Complications entered the vice presidential contest when Hill expressed misgivings early this week in opposing Musolf on the ballot as he felt personally responsible for encouraging Musolf originally to file for the post. "The decision should be left to the voters," many of Hill's supporters told him. As of Wednesday evening, his name had not been withdrawn.

Artist Well Received In Convo

Oriental Watercolors Convey Words

"I AM FIRMLY convinced that world understanding can be improved through the universal language of art. I hope they send more artists."

Thus Dong Kingman, noted Chinese-American watercolorist, concluded his talk, "The Artist as an Agent for Inter-Cultural Understanding," at a UMD convocation Tuesday. He spent six months on a state department goodwill tour in the Orient and Europe in 1953. He will be guest artist and instructor for the 1956 UMD summer workshop in advanced painting beginning in July.

"THE MOST dramatic example I found," Kingman declared with an expansive chuckle, "was in a jailhouse in England with some 600 prisoners. But this one sort of happened in reverse.

"I went into the jailhouse to show my paintings and demonstrate my art. After five minutes, I realized that I was being very serious. So I turned around and told my audience that while in Hong Kong I had had much opportunity to observe pickpockets at work. That, what would you say, broke down the barriers."

Kingman said some Oriental countries hold rigidly to traditional art and art techniques that defeat the principal objective in art—self expression.

Himself an eminently successful example of an Oriental artist whose work has been modified by European and American influences, Kingman said Japan is the most outstanding Oriental nation in art today.

STUDENTS GATHERED thickly around personable Dong Kingman as he conducted this outdoor demonstration at Tweed Gallery this week. The good-humored artist will return to the campus this summer to lead the eighth annual workshop for artists.

Festival of Fine Arts Features Music Next

Appearances by the Walden Quartet and a Mozart bi-centennial Concert will be among outstanding music offerings during the second week of the third annual UMD Fine Arts festival.

THE FAMOUS WALDEN quartet, termed "one of the most progressive and gifted ensembles in the American music world today," will be on campus Monday for a full day of workshops and concertizing in Main auditorium.

Barbara Nason, Alice Craig, Donald Lindstrom and Donald Hogquist will be vocal soloist in the Mozart concert.

THEY WILL APPEAR in the University orchestra and chorus presentation of Mozart's Requiem Mass at 8 p. m. Thursday in Main auditorium. First performed in December, 1793, the 12-section mass includes two movements by Mozart, three written by Süssmayr and seven others completed from Mozart's sketches.

At 8 p. m. Monday the Walden quartet will play a concert including Joseph Haydn's Quartet in G Major, Alvin Etler's Quartet No. 2 and Johannes Brahms' Quartet in C Minor.

Now in residence at the University of Illinois, the Walden quartet was formed in 1934 of members of the Cleveland Symphony orchestra and took its name from Thoreau's classic. It includes Homer Schmitt and Bernard Goodman, violins; John Garvey, viola, and Robert Swenson, cello. The Walden group will conduct two workshops Monday. At 10 a. m. it will conduct a session on ensemble interpretation, and at 1:30 p. m., on building string technique.

AN OPEN rehearsal of the concert will be held at 7 p. m. Tuesday in Main auditorium.

New Draft Test Deadline Monday

Colonel L. E. Lilygren, State Director of Selective Service, announced that a Special Selective Service College Qualification Test will be given May 17. Applications for this test must be postmarked not later than midnight Monday to be accepted. They are available in Main 211 or at any local board.

Registrar Armas Tamminen declared, "While a passing score may be used to defer the student, a failing score will not be used to induct him; the test cannot lessen the student's chances for completing his college work—it can only increase them."

Campus Invasion Tuesday

Several hundred area high-school seniors are expected to visit the campus Tuesday as guests of the third annual UMD Campus day.

Elementary Council, Home Economics, Kindergarten-Primary and the PEMMS groups are planning activities for the day. Tours, demonstrations and exhibits in various departments are included on the schedule.

"Shoppers' Holiday" will be the theme of the annual UMD Home Economics club style show to be presented at 2 p. m. in Main auditorium.

Ann Cook and Marjorie Balou, are co-chairmen of the style show.

The program will feature a pantomime showing various ways to shop, including "salon" "yard goods" and "off-the-rack." UMD Laboratory school seventh and eighth grade students will present skits.

Ticket Sales Set For Prom

Tickets will go on sale next week for the prom, to be held May 19 this year. The cost will be $2.35 per couple.

Eddie Grady and his Commanders will provide the music against a background theme of "Lullaby of Birdland." The Commanders, who were relatively unknown before, are being given a big play by radio stations in this area.

Botanist Comes Out In Spring

THE APPEARANCE of the first forms of spring plant life will lure outdoors the petite form of Dr. Olga Lakela, professor of botany and head of that department.

Before taking this position, she received her undergraduate training at the Duluth Normal School and earned her bachelors, masters and doctors degrees from the University of Minnesota.

Her teaching experience has been centered chiefly in St. Louis county though she did take charge of the biology department at Minot, North Dakota for five years.

PROBABLY THE MOST significant of her achievements at UMD has been the establishment of a herbarium numbering nearly 26,000 vega- tion sheets containing mostly area plants. Dr. Lakela, a systematic botanist, has personally collected 19,000 specimens which is quite a remarkable amount considering that the plants are collected in duplicates.

The herbarium started as a personal under- taking twenty-one years ago and has been in- creased by plants sent by friends from many parts of the United States. She has also traded Minnesota specimens with the University of Ottawa, the Illinois Academy of Science and other places. The herbarium has also been aided by the research grant from the graduate school which has helped to pay student assis- tants.

HER LOVE of pure science has resulted in her discoveries of many new species including a new form of yellow water lily previously unknown. St. Louis County is a type of "botanist's heaven" since it has not been well collected before.

An increase in the knowledge of plant life has caused Dr. Lakela to write various pamphlets and books. She is in the process of writing "The Ferns and Flowering Plants of St. Louis County," which includes over 1,200 different kinds of plants.

In her pamphlet "Orchids of St. Louis County," Dr. Lakela says, "Of the some 40 species occurring in Minnesota, 28 have been found in St. Louis County." Many species are accurately drawn, explained and geograph- ically located including the state flower, a member of the orchid family."

The Pickwick Papers

By Gene Gruba

There is a letter under "Letters to the Editor" in this issue, regarding our column of last week, which states, "We want school spirit and tradition but neither of these are obtained overnight. UMD is still young and growing. That's exactly why the Ivy League and the Army and Navy are noted—they have tradition because they're old." Our thanks to the Misses Briddell, Anselment, Benson and Lehtenen and Mr. Overland for having enough concern to write and the courage to sign their name. . . but!!!

West Point, Annapolis and the Ivy League have tradition and tradition takes time, true . . . But tradition is born and created by and because of a youthful quality . . . SPIRIT!

No one realizes more than we do how young UMD is and that it is still growing . . . and if we have any purpose it is to see that this school gets started on the right foot . . . if it can already be considered started . . . it is a poor start!!!

No, we don't want to make a social function out of UMD. But it is the opinion of this writer that if we have the spirit needed to put over our extra-curricular activities, that spirit will over-lap in our scholastic activities. Then too, let's not sell the extra-curricular activity short as an educational medium!

Are there any organizations on this campus that are up to par . . . from the Student Commission on down and including this newspaper!

There isn't one student group here that could not be whipped apart in print . . . and this paper would be the worst if it did not present the sorry shape that this campus is in to readers that should know what the score is . . . and be trying to correct the situation!

UMD is young and growing, and because it is, right now we're the people responsible for the route it takes in becoming whatever it will. We should have spirit . . . the spirit it takes to create and build. The mere fact that we have been given the job of construct- ing something that could be great should instill and provoke spirit in us.

Where would this country be if its founding fathers didn't have the spirit to fight. No, we're not building anything that in any way shape or form could be considered as great as a nation . . . but one day the job of handling this nation will be in our hands and if we don't have the spirit now to . . . Well! You figure it out.

It would take quite a bit of space to print the names of all the people responsible for this situation . . . There are about 2,000 of them. What are the desires of this corner . . . Well, guess maybe now you know. The next thing is . . . what are you going to do about it all?

And now 12:45 and the inkwell is dry . . . No, Rome wasn't built in a day, but it sure didn't take long to burn it down! Bed- time, so thirty.

'Newspapers Over TV' Say Nation's College Students

"NEWSPAPERS PREFERRED OVER TELEVISION" . . .

BY A MARGIN of over 3 to 1, college students would give up TV rather than newspapers, if forced to make a choice. Oddly enough, this preference does not hold for the general adult population, where there is an almost even split in the preference for TV or newspapers, as indicated by results when the same question was asked of a sample of adults in a large metropolitan center.

Associated Collegiate Press gathered collegiate opinion on this question by sampling from a representative national cross-section of college students. The question was:

IF YOU HAD TO GIVE UP EITHER NEWSPAPERS OR TELEVISION, WHICH ONE WOULD YOU GIVE UP?

POLL RESULTS:

	College Students			Adults
	Men	Women	Total	Total
Newspapers	16%	19%	17%	42%
Television	68%	66%	68%	45%
No preference/Don't know	8%	11%	9%	8%
No TV set	8%	4%	6%	5%

Students seem to prefer the newspapers because they give a fuller, more complete and more detailed coverage of news and events. Some feel newspapers are more dependable and informa- tive, they give better quality news. Some just like to read and re- flect; some say newspapers are easily accessible; a few just dislike the type of programs found on TV. Here are typical comments from students preferring newspapers:

"NEWSPAPERS GIVE a more complete story than TV," says a sophomore at the University of North Dakota (Grand Forks). "Newspapers are far more dependable, more informative," thinks a Northeastern State College (Tahlequah, Okla.) freshman, while a sophomore coed attending the University of Arkansas (Fayetteville) simply states: "I enjoy reading much more than watching television."

Students preferring to give up newspapers in preference for TV generally feel TV is more interesting and offers its news and information in a more concise package. Some think the newspa- per is too static a medium, not very versatile. Here are a few typi- cal comments:

"The newspaper offers the same thing all the time, it never changes," says a senior attending Iowa State College (Ames). "Tele- vision summarizes the news and gives you the important facts," says a junior at the College of Physicians and Surgeons (San Fran- cisco, Calif.).

Name Should Come From Region

THREE WORDS found in any collegiate dictionary make up the proposals from the nickname committee to be placed on the ballot for next Friday's election.

In addition to the three proposals offered, the present "Bulldog" name will be on the ballot with an alternative vote possible. (See story on front page.)

WEBSTER'S LATEST college edition defines "Falcons" as hawks trained for sport. Any local enthusiast of ornithology (bird study) will be aware that one of the largest flyways for hawks in the nation is atop the Duluth hill.

Though students of Finnish and Swedish extraction might feel slighted, a suggestion for the name "Norsemen" was agreeable to the committee. Webster's help again labels it as meaning ancient Scandinavians. Probably today, it is generally understood as "northern men." What better place for them than UMD?

Fur-trading adventurers who made the history of this area so rich in tales of bravery and Indian contacts would be venerated with the idea of "Voyageurs," the third suggestion. For headline and speaking purposes, "Falcons" becomes an easy favorite.

A CHANGE IS desirable. A solid concentration of votes for one of these proposed names will implement the speed of revising yells, writing a song to supplement the new name

Norsemen

Falcons

Voyageurs

ASKED TO SKETCH the three proposed nicknames for the college after the Tuesday evening committee meeting, Ralph Miller took ohrush in hand and expressed the ideas in this manner for consideration of students at the polls next Friday when they will express popular opinion on a nickname.

Reporter Investigates Cafe Mystery -- Unsolved

I was sitting in my office reading one of those new sexy pocket novels, "The House With Seven Gables," when the telephone rang.

"Hello. Sure. Right. Yep. Goodbye." It was the chief and she had another assignment for me.

It seems that a number of strange happenings were going on at the "Cafe la Lera," a restaurant on the UMD campus, and it was my job to investigate.

I arrived at 10:31 and at once noticed some suspicious goings-on. There, right in the middle of the sidewalk was a flower garden. I took out my black book and marked it down.

Proceeding up the walk, I arrived at my destination and slowly descended the stairs into the eating hall. The chief told me to act casual, so I walked up to the lady and ordered some of "THAT." Much to my embarrassment I noticed I had only a ten-spot on me, so I was forced to return a piece of bread.

Say, before I continue, I would like to make one point straight. This article is not written by Don Romano, but by someone with the same name.

As I was saying—I found myself a table and as I was seating myself I glanced up. On the wall it looked like someone got messy with their soup—Oh, excuse me; it's a drawing and hark, what's this? A clue. I took out my black book and copied down the writing on the wall—RW and MacDonnell. Must be some kind of code. You know, I've been getting so much information lately that I think that I'll buy something to put it in my book with, a pencil or maybe a pen.

Then She came. Five feet, six, blondish brown hair and had the biggest pair of eyes you have ever seen—

No time for girls—duty first, you know. So I tried some of the—some of the—oh, what's it called—oh, yes,—food.

The room began to spin. I reached for my black book to put down the answer to the mystery. It was—ah—

Tracksters, JC's Tangle Tuesday

Duluth's up-and-down track squad opens the home season Tuesday when they host Itasca and Virginia junior colleges.

The Bulldogs will be out to impress hte home fans after road travel which saw them fail to score at Carleton, place second at St. Thomas and get smothered in a dual meet this Tuesday by St. John's. Although the record has been spotty, the performances give indications that this may be one of the better UMD track squads by conference meet time.

Coach Joe Gerlach will unveil hsi record-breaking freshman shotput artist, Leon Royer, on the campus track Tuesday also. With a heave of 43 feet, 11 inches, at St. Thomas last Saturday, Royer shattered the previous UMD mark.

DAVE STICKNEY, team captain and distance man, captured a first in the mile at St. John's. Only two other Bulldogs could match his efforts as the Johnnies scored an 83-38 win over the Bulldogs.

Other first place winners were Jim Lakso, high jump and Mort Engstrom, pole vault.

Tuesday's meet will start at 3 p. m. on the UMD track adjacent to the phy ed building. Spectator stands provide a good view of the competition.

Awarded State Play Day

WAA Activities

Next year the WAA members can look forward to a lot of hard work and a heap of fun. After a very convincing speech by President Dorothy Niemi at the State Play Day at Winona, UMD was awarded the State Play Day for 1957. With nine colleges represented the vote was 5 for UMD, 3 for U of M, and 1 for Bemidji. The trip to Winona was thoroughly enjoyed by everyone, and they had the bags under their eyes to prove it.

Election of officers for the forthcoming year will be held at the general meeting next Tuesday evening. All members are urged to be present.

Jan Toms and Annie Clement left for Northfield, Minn. this morning where they will represent UMD in the Carleton College Invitational Tennis Tournament for College Women.

In the Archery Tournament held recently Darlene Melander took the championship by beating Bets Lawson by 3 arrows in the final round. Sue Schelstreet won the consolation finals.

The Badminton Tournament ended with Nancy Peterson winning 2 out of 3 games with Jan Toms for the championship. Annie Pechachek won the consolation finals.

The Annual WAA Award Banquet will be held on May 23. The committee will consist of the newly elected officers.

Plans are underway for the Annual Cabin Party to be held May 25, 26 and 27 at Bets Lawson's cabin on Lake Vermillion.

Merry First; Royer Breaks UMD's Mark As Squad Cops Second At St. Thomas

The UMD tracksters erased their dismal showing at Carleton by racking up a second place at the St. Thomas Invitational. The Carleton venture netted them no points while at St. Thomas they received 43½.

A first place and five seconds gave UMD the bulk of their scoring. Chuck Merry copped first place in the broad jump with a leap of 19 feet 11¼ inches. Leon Royer in the shot, Jim Lakso, the high jump, Bob Antilla, discus, Bob Lindahl and Mort Engstrom, pole vault, and the mile relay team of Ed Holt, Dave Smith, Jerry Gustafson and Clyde Smith each finished second.

Royer's shot throw of 43 feet, 11 inches, while not enough to beat Howard of Macalester at 45 feet, 2 inches, set a new record for UMD. This bettered the mark by Glen Olson by one foot, nine inches.

Clyde Smith, running the 440 dash and Dave Stickney, racing the mile finished third with Stickney picking up a fourth in the two mile.

Fifth places went to Lindahl, high jump and 880; Lakso, broad jump; Royer, discus; Gustafson, 440; Laulenen, two mile; and Marvin Heikkinen, low hurdles.

The meet had St. Thomas, Macalester, Hamline, Augsburg, and St. John's from the MIAC in addition to Lutheran Seminary, St. Paul Bethel and Northwest College of Minneapolis. St. Thomas with 67¾ finished an easy first.

Reference: The Pickwick Papers of April 20, 1956

You're right! Every person on this campus should know about our Student Commission, the officers, and what's currently being done by this organization. Every student can benefit by belonging to his choice of the forty organizations on campus. Plays and games are presented especially for the student to take advantage of. But we believe too, in attending classes and taking notes so that we can become members of an "informed group of people!"

After all, a lot of us are here because we can't afford to go away. What are we paying for? To sleep through lectures? To cut classes so that we can enjoy the "ashsmokesphere" of the cafeteria. No, we're paying for an education and we have a lot of fine instructors and facilities to make that possible.

We want school spirit and tradition but neither of these are obtained overnight. UMD is still young and growing. That's exactly why the Ivy League and the Army and Navy are noted—they have tradition because they're old. We'd be proud to have UMD on our diplomas—proud of UMD as an educational institution, not as a social function!

We're not certain of what your idea of school spirit is but doubt whether you'll find it at the Pickwick!

Some Things Not Printed

Dear Readers,

A lengthy note from candidate Gilbert Sydney, running for the post of commissioner of orientation, was also in this week's mailbag. Five pages of platform and plans were too much to present in this column.

Please limit letters to a maximum of 300 words.

Two anonymous notes had to be discarded in keeping with the editorial policy of this paper. Names may be withheld upon request, but must be filed in the News Service if a letter is to appear without signatures.
